COMMUNITY ACCESS RULES & REGULATIONS

A. INTRODUCTION

It is the goal of Southeastern Connecticut Television, Inc. (SEC-TV or "Company") to promote and encourage the use of the Community Access Channels.

Community Access is available to residents of Groton, Ledyard, Stonington, North Stonington and Voluntown, Connecticut on a non-discriminatory basis. Prior video production experience is not required. SEC-TV provides video production training to members of the local community. Once trained and certified, residents are permitted to use SEC-TV's production facilities including studio and remote equipment for the purpose of producing Community Access programs at no cost. At the discretion of the company, out-of-state residents may or may not be permitted to use the access channels.

B. BECOMING A COMMUNITY ACCESS PRODUCER

If you have an idea for a non-commercial program, which may be of interest to the residents of SEC-TV's service area, you can become a Community Access Producer. To get involved, you must first contact SEC-TV to schedule an appointment to discuss your program idea. If the program meets Community Access requirements and you have gathered a group of crew members necessary to assist you, video production training can then be scheduled. This is the first step in getting the production of your program underway.

C. COMMUNITY ACCESS PRODUCER RESPONSIBILITIES

The Community Access Producer is expected to schedule the video production training sessions and attend the sessions along with the necessary crew members in order to become familiarized with the Community Access production facilities.

The Community Access Producer is responsible for all facets of their program. These may include, but are not limited to: assembling a crew, scheduling use of the facilities, contacting guests and completing the necessary forms and paperwork.

The Community Access Producer may not represent themselves to anyone as an employee of SEC-TV, or indicate to anyone that their program is produced or sponsored by SEC-TV

The Community Access Producer is required to obtain a release form from all individuals appearing on their program.

The Community Access Producer must adhere to all of the Community Access rules and guidelines stated herein and is responsible for ensuring that the program and the individuals involved in the production adhere to the rules and policies set forth in this document.

Children must be supervised at all times. Crew members under the age of 18 must have first submitted a permission and release form from a parent or legal guardian acknowledging the participation of the minor in the Community Access program, and taking responsibility for the actions of the minor. SEC-TV reserves the right to require whatever supervision is necessary for minor(s), whether it be a parent/legal guardian, leader of a non-profit or civic organization, teacher or guidance counselor, coach of a team, or any other person deemed necessary.
